LETTER FROM THE OWNERS

Dear Person in Charge of FUN,

Hogue's Fun Factory is a family owned and operated event rental business located in Johnstown, PA. We pride ourselves on establishing and maintaining relationships with excellent customer service and the highest safety standards. Over the past nine years we have established relationships with more than three dozen schools and festivals in which we have provided entertainment of varying sizes and types. From events with just one or two inflatables to events with several inflatables, crafts, and staffing; Hogue's Fun Factory is equipped to do it all.

Our reputation and reviews are built on providing excellent service each step of the process. From booking your event to a courtesy check-in the week of the event all the way through the set-up (along with staffing if needed) and take down of the inflatables. Additionally, we have the highest safety standards for our inflatables, meeting or exceeding all current regulatory standards. We are proud of passing every state inspection in the history of the company. Finally, customers trust us with their events because they know we have new and unique inflatables that will make them stand out. Our inflatables are vacuumed and sanitized every time they are rented out and maintained to ensure quality. We buy from only the best manufacturers in the United States.

In this guide, we have tried to give you as much information as needed to make your planning process easy. Our insurance information is provided for ease of mind and we can send along the insurance certificate if needed. We have provided references for you to ask questions about our services and are always available to work with you and your team over email, phone or in person. We can even come to your facility to map out and discuss your plan for no charge. We have listed power requirements, the number of operators, sizes and pictures for your convenience. We also put together sample packages at the end of the guide to show some of our thoughts and multiple-rental discounts. For a customized quote for your event, contact us and we will send that along with applicable discounts.

Chris and Bobby Hogue
